Zschoche (shōk'ē)

Michael and Allison Zschoche combined their talents and opened a hip little shop that sizzles with style and soul on Balboa Island in Newport Beach

When the Zschoche family travels, they keep an eye out for delights not found at home in southern California. Checking out their eponymous Balboa Island store is only part of the fun. Once you meet the 100-watt, multifarious newlyweds—Michael, donning a short sleeve shirt, pink pants and flip-flops and blonde cover girl Allison, casually elegant in a black summer dress and sandals—amid their newly added loft with stamped tin crown molding—it's obvious that this space is an extension of their personalities. ▷
